

NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

We spent the weekend driving over into deep East Texas delivering a surplus piece of printing equipment that we sold to the Sabine County Reporter in Hemp-hill. This is about as close to Louisiana as you can get and still be in Texas and it is amazing how different the country gets as you travel East.

We drove through two National Forests and were on the edge of a third one and the scenery was beautiful but we don't believe we would trade the view for our climate. It is hot and sticky in that part of the state.

There were three things we noticed on the trip. The number of people that still live out in the country over there. You can not judge a town in East Texas by its population because they have so many living outside of town.

In spite of all of these people you still do not have as much traffic on the highways as we have out here in the open spaces. These people just don't seem to go much. It must be hard on the service station business (in fact you don't see as many big stations out that way).

The third thing we noticed is that there seems to be water everywhere, including a number of large lakes. But at the same time the farther West you go, the bigger the boats are that you see on the highways. It may be that the people with the big boats in East Texas keep them on the lakes where out here you have to haul them to the water.

We don't believe we would care to live in that part of the state but would like to find time sometime to take the family and our boat back over there and explore some. It looks like a boaters' and campers' paradise.

With all the emotional flap being made over guns and gun control we were disappointed but not too surprised to see the papers over the weekend where the Boy Scouts of America are considering doing away with their marksmanship merit badge.

We hope that they reconsider this move. We don't believe that this would help the situation in anyway because it is doubtful if any boy was ever led astray by learning the proper handling of fire arms.

As much as we desire to see our federal government on an economy move there are two places that we wish they would leave alone. The first is the post office and the second is the farm program.

While we would like to see more efficiency and economy in the post office we feel that the present cut-back would just cut down on services. Supposedly, the post office is one branch of the government that produces its own revenue. With this in mind the people that pay the bills, the users of the mails, should not be denied the service that they are paying for.

We say supposedly the post office pays its own way because Congress takes all of the income from the post office and gives the service back the money that it wants it to operate on. And at the same time tells it what non-revenue producing services it must provide.

As for the farmer — a cut back in the farm program at this time could wreck the rural economy of this nation. We say this because the only thing that is keeping our farmers going now is the government programs. This past wheat crop is a good example of this in that with a bumper crop our farmers did well to break even.

In the long run we would like to see the government get out of the farming industry but we do not profess to know how this can be accomplished. We do know that for this to happen the farmer will have to get a price high enough for him to trade in our inflated economy.

With farm prices nine percent lower than they were in 1940 and production costs up 31 percent it might be cheaper on the American consumer to support the farmer with taxes than at the market place. But this would not solve the farmers problems of government control.

What Congress does to the farm program this year not only will affect all of our farmers but will also reach down into the pocket of just about everyone in West Texas as we all depend on a strong farm economy for our livelihood.

Telephone Co. Announces Long Distance Rate Reduction Aug. 1

AT&T has announced, effective August 1, a reduction in long distance rates for interstate calls covering distances greater than 505 miles.

The latest reductions will lower rates for station-to-station daytime calls, placed between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 5 to 10 cents for the first three minutes.

Neinda Baptist Church Revival To Open Sunday

The Neinda Baptist Revival, with Rev. Oscar Fannin as evangelist, will be held nightly July 21-28.

Prayer service will be at 7:30 p.m., followed by worship at 8 p.m. Sunday morning services are held at 11 a.m. Sunday school is at 10 a.m.

Rev. Fannin is pastor of Wylie Baptist Church. Stanley Jackson will be the song leader.

To Speak Sunday

Rev. and Mrs. Rollan Moore, missionaries recently returned from the Philippines, will be the guest speakers at the Sunday evening worship at Foursquare Gospel Church. Everyone is invited to the 7 p.m. service. Rev. Carl Pool is pastor.

"This rate reduction will save customers approximately $20 million annually," said Phil Davis, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Only last November, AT&T reduced interstate rates by $100 million annually.

"Since World War II, the consumer price index has risen 77 per cent," Davis pointed out. "That means, in bread-and-butter terms, that what cost 20 cents in 1945 now costs 35 cents today."

"But the bread-and-butter of communications — long distance telephone service — today costs about half as much as it did in 1945, thanks to this 23rd reduction in rates since coast-to-coast service began in 1915."

Davis noted that in 1915, when it was first possible to call from New York to Los Angeles, it cost $20.70. After World War II, the cost was $1.

"Under the new rates, a three-minute call from New York to Los Angeles on daytime, station-to-station rates will be $1.70," Davis pointed out.

"Already," he noted, "customers can call interstate station-to-station anywhere in the U. S. between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. weeknights and all day on weekends for $1 or less."

LL All-Stars Win First Round, To Play Tonight

The Little League All-Stars won the first game against Merkel Tuesday night, 9-1 in Rotan. Thursday night they play Stonewall-Kent at 7:30 at Rotan.

The All-Stars, coached by Jack Harugthy and C. W. Squires, include Tracy Rowland, Ricky Harugthy, Jim Johnson, Steve Mackey, Hershel Houghton, Tony Franklin, Danny Lujan, Ray Scifres, Tony Maberry, George Washington, Johnnie Jones, Johnny Seay, Larry Mays, Mike Grifin and alternates, Joey Youngblood and Gary Hertel.

Tony Franklin pitched five innings and Larry Mays pitched two innings.

Harugthy and Squires coached the Cardinals, winner of the Little League pennant. This automatically makes them coaches for the All-Star team.

The other teams came in as follows, Giants, second; Braves, third; and Yankees, fourth.

County HD Agent Gives Tips On Storing Electric Blankets

Now is the time to store electric blankets. Blankets should be stored clean. Never dry clean an electric blanket because some cleaning materials will damage the wiring system, reminds Mrs. Mary Y. Newberry, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent.

Measure the blanket before laundering so you can block it back to its original size. For automatic laundering, place 1/3 cup of mild soap or detergent in the machine and fill with warm water, about 100 degrees — 110 degrees F. Run the machine for two minutes to mix the detergent, then add the blanket, says the Home Demonstration Agent.

For an agitator type washer with two wash action speeds, wash for 1-1/4 minutes; with slow wash action and fast spin.

For agitator and tumble-type washers with single wash action speed, soak the blanket for ten minutes then agitate or tumble for 15 seconds.

To rinse the blanket, use cool water, about 70 degrees — 90 degrees to remove detergents and then rinse twice (one minute each time) for best results.

For hand laundering, mix 1/3 cup of mild soap or detergent with lukewarm water, then add the blanket. Soak the blanket for about ten minutes, then squeeze suds through by hand for about two minutes.

Use a soft brush and solution of mild detergent to remove stains and heavily soiled spots from the blanket binding. Remove from the sudsy water by gently squeezing the fabric. Rinse two or three times in cool water, Mrs. Newberry recommends.

To dry in an automatic dryer, place four to six dry both towels in the dryer with the blanket. Do not use good towels as buffers, as blanket colors may transfer to the towels.

Set the automatic dryer control on the high heat, time the drying cycle for fifteen minutes. The blanket will be damp and steaming after drying cycle. Allow the blanket to cool then finish drying on a line. This will permit the blanket to be blocked to size as it dries.

For line drying, place the blanket lengthwise over the two parallel clothes lines about 18 inches apart. As the blanket dries, keep stretching to block it back to its original dimensions. Dry the blanket in the shade, never in direct sunlight, as sunlight may harm fabric, the agent advises.

The blanket should look soft and fluffy. If the nap becomes matted, it may be brushed in one direction with a clean, stiff brush to raise the nap.

The nylon binding may be ironed if necessary. Use low iron temperature setting.

Rev. Thomas Davis, pastor of the Faith Methodist Church, participated in the (8th Texas Pastors' School held July 8-11 at Southwestern University in Georgetown.

Purpose of the school was to encourage the exchange of views and methods and provide a period for study, prayer, and fellowship.

SUCCESSFUL SEWMANSHIP

Professional Tips for Making Perfect Buttonholes

Buttons Are Back!

They parade from neck to hemline on beruffled shirt dresses, emphasize the side-wrap effect of skirts and culottes, help the fit of waist-defining jackets and coats, march down the backs of high-collared blouses, and decorate pocket flaps of suits. Buttons are back — and so are buttonholes.

Once the bane of all but the most experienced home sewer, buttonholes are now easy, even fun, to make with the aid of a built-in buttonhole or buttonhole accessory for your sewing machine. Here are some tips on making professional-looking buttonholes from The Singer Company.

Which Buttonhole?

Most patterns suggest the type of buttonhole that is best for the item you're making, but fabric and personal taste may suggest another type. When in doubt, look at high-priced fashions similar to the garment you're making, to see what the top designers are using. Generally you'll find one of these four basic buttonholes, perhaps with variations:

(A1) Bound buttonholes. These are used on dressier coats, dresses, suits, and suits. They may be made of the same fabric as the garment, or of another fabric.

(A2) Round-end straight buttonholes. They are used on most types of dresses, coats, and suits, are easy to make when many buttonholes are required. With a purled edge, they give a hand-sewn finish to tailored fashions.

(A3) Eyelet-end buttonholes. Tailored looking, they are appropriate for use on classic coats and suits. With a purled edge, they are exactly right for man-tailored women's fashions with the "Bonnie and Clyde" look.

(A4) Square-end bar-tack buttonholes. The added reinforcement at the ends, makes them practical for sheer and lightweight fabrics, and extremely good on infants' and children's wear.

All of these buttonholes can be made by machine, and complete instructions for stitching are included with the machine or buttonhole accessory.

What Size Buttonhole?

The pattern you use will indicate what type and size buttons the garment you're making was designed to have. If the button you want isn't available in the specified size, or if you feel that a smaller or larger button suits you better, you can easily make adjustments. Before making the buttonholes, however, buy your buttons. Then on a scrap of fabric, make a sample buttonhole.

The length of the slit of the buttonhole should be equal to the diameter + the thickness of the button. If the button has a rough texture, add another 1/8-inch to avoid abrasion. The button should slip through the slit without stretching it, but should be sufficiently snug so that it won't pop out. When making a sample buttonhole, be sure to duplicate the number of fabric layers in the garment, including interfacing if used. A stay of firm crisp fabric is essential on loosely-woven or stretchy fabrics, and is desirable on other fabrics. Bound buttonholes are stitched through two fabric layers: garment and a stay or interfacing (not hair canvas), before the facing is attached. Worked buttonholes are stitched through three fabric layers: garment, interfacing and facing, after the facing is attached.

The sample buttonhole not only enables you to determine the correct size, but will let you see how it will look on the garment, and help you determine the buttonholing method and machine settings that are best for the fabric you're using.

Pressure should be just heavy enough to hold the material firmly, and tension should be balanced. No special thread is needed for worked buttonholes. Number 50 mercerized cotton and size A silk threads may be used with a size 14 needle. Finer mercerized thread requires a size 11 needle.

Placing Buttonholes

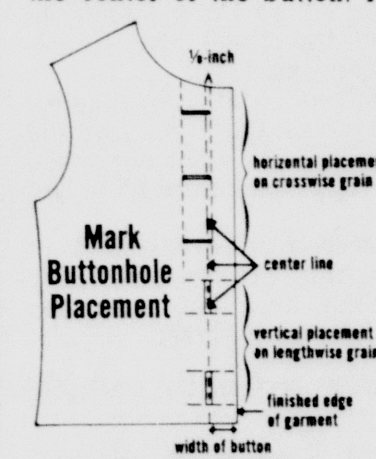

Your pattern will indicate where buttonholes should be placed. However, it may be necessary to change the spacing because of pattern alterations or because the buttons you are using are smaller or larger than the pattern specifies.

The rules for correctly positioning buttonholes are the same, regardless of type. On women's clothes, the buttonholes are on the right-hand side; on men's wear, the but-

Unless a design specifies otherwise, spaces between buttonholes should be equal, and when a line of buttonholes crosses the waistline, such as on a jacket, one buttonhole should fall exactly at the waist. Mark that buttonhole first, and measure the others from that point. ALWAYS TRY ON A FASHION TO DETERMINE WHETHER BUTTONHOLE PLACEMENT IS CORRECT BEFORE MAKING BUTTONHOLES.

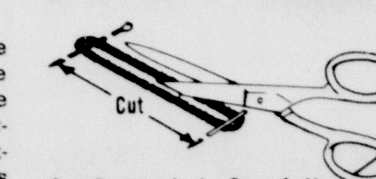

To mark the position of buttonholes, baste a vertical line in the garment to denote the "center line." This marks the center of the garment and (except for off-center closings) the center of the button. It should be a button's width (and no less than 1/4 of a button's width) from the finished edge. Horizontal buttonholes are placed to extend 1/8-inch beyond the "center line" so that the button will be centered when buttoned, and should follow a crosswise thread. Vertical buttonholes are placed so that the "center line" is in the center of the buttonhole, following a lengthwise thread. Baste markings where the buttonholes should go, and follow markings carefully when stitching.

Cutting a Buttonhole

After the buttonhole has been made, use a pair of small sharp scissors to cut the opening. Place a pin inside the stitching at each end of the buttonhole to protect the end stitching. Insert the blade in the center of the buttonhole cutting space, and cut from this point in either direction up to the pins, being careful not to cut the stitching.

CENTURY PLANT BLOOMS — A century plant in the front yard of the home of Miss Eleanor Temple, 137 N. W. Ave. B, has been blooming for several weeks and is now beginning to lose the blooms and die. The Mexican agave species matures and flowers only once in many years and then dies. Miss Temple said the plant was set out in 1926 or 1927. The long, stiff, fleshy leaves form the base of the plant from which extends the flowers in branched flower clusters from the tall stem. (Tim Jones Photo)

"Whatsoever Things"

By DONALD E. WILDMON

The newspapers carried what is becoming a very common story recently. It happened in Savannah, Georgia. The article said that a group of men sat idly by and watched two men slash each other to death at a private residence. The fight over a bottle of wine took the lives of Eugene Butler, 22, and Jad Wynn, 19. Police said several men watched without interfering as Wynn stabbed Butler in the chest with a knife and Butler severed Wynn's jugular vein with a jagged edge of the wine bottle.

More and more we are hearing of accounts where people sit by and do nothing when they are needed. The most famous case, I guess, was Catherine Genovese. She was killed as her killer returned three times to stab her to death while 38 residents watched on in New York City. No one even bothered to call the police until the girl was dead. They were there in two minutes after they were called. Police questioned the residents as to why they didn't help. Most answered: "I didn't want to get involved."

And that's the attitude that is becoming more and more a part of our country. We are so selfish that we don't want to get involved even if someone's life depends on it. We have come to the place where we won't even pick up the phone to save someone's life. We sit and watch two young men stab each other to death.

Some months ago I watched the story of the rise of Hitler on television. When speaking of how such an incredible thing could happen the commentator said that three things made it possible. Hitler rose to power, the commentator said, because of the fear, unconcern, and self-interest of other people who could have stopped him. So because some were afraid, some didn't care, and some would stand to gain from his rise, the world was thrust into the greatest war ever fought and millions died.

How was it that Edmund Burke said it? "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." And where incidents such as those above happen it is because good men did nothing to stop them.

What's all this got to do with the Man of Galilee? Well, He wants the best for us and that means He wants us to be the best. You see, He isn't pleased when we let evil triumph and He makes us unhappy to see it triumph, also. So He gives us the desire to stop evil, to fight it, to conquer it with good. He makes us become the type of persons who "want to get involved."

Someone has to sacrifice for every good in life. Someone has to get involved. It is a lot easier to set on the sidelines. But if we sit on the sidelines we will never get the thrill that comes from playing the game.

He got involved. And His involvement meant a cross for Him. But did you ever try to imagine what our world would be like if He had refused to get involved?

Maybe the reason more people don't get involved is that crosses are heavy and painful. They are, that is, if you try to carry them by yourself without His help.

Drownings In State Reach 309, Near Total for All of Last Year

AUSTIN — Drownings in Texas now total 309 for this year, only eight less than the 317 recorded for all of 1967, according to Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"The Fourth of July weekend's grim total of 24 was an ironic ending for National Safe Boating Week which ended July 6," he said. Mauermann said that many of the recent accidents could have been prevented had a life preserver been worn. "In some cases," he said, "the victims had complied with the letter of the law by having one Coast Guard Approved Lifesaving device in the boat for each person and then drowned because it was not available when the emergency arose."

Other cases, equally as tragic, involved persons who, although they did not know how to swim, somehow found their way into deep water. "Our compilations of drowning information include the words 'wading and stepped into deep hole' with awful regularity," Mauermann said.

"Children by nature, are careless, and it is sad when a child must pay with his or her life because of one of these careless moments," he said. "Too often the ease histories show that parents left their small children unattended near dangerous bodies of water although the parents knew the children could not swim."

A five-year-old boy drowned when he fell from the bank into a bayou. His mother did not miss him until it was too late.

A 18-month-old boy drowned in a plastic swimming pool while his mother was in the house doing the cleaning.

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:6

Ask anyone what his most precious possession is, and he will almost invariably say, "My children." The desire for the welfare of our children enables us to "move mountains". We will do anything, give them anything, if we think it will help them.

The one most important thing we can do for them, however, is to instill in them a love of God, and a desire to obey him. The church can help you in this endeavor, inspire and strengthen you. We invite you to take your family to church this week. It may make a great difference in the life direction taken by your children.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neinda Philosopher Has A Few Sharp Words To Say About People Who're Too Lazy To Walk

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One comes out against laziness this week. It's amazing.

Dear editor:

I was sitting under a shade tree out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday. It's my favorite because it's lined up with two others so that when the sun moves, one tree picks up the shadow, then the next, and I can sit in one place four or five hours without losing my shade, and if you don't think this is important, have you ever gone to sleep in the shade and wake up in the sun?

I wasn't sleeping today. I was wide awake and for more than an hour I had been watching a newspaper in the pasture about a hundred yards off moving gently in the breeze. The wind seemed to be toying with it, rolling it around like a kitten with a ball of yarn.

I kept hoping it'd blow over to where I was, after all, one of man's first obligations in this fast-moving world is to stay informed, democracy can't function when the people are in the dark, politicians prove this all the time, but when the second hour passed and that paper was still a hundred yards away I took things into my own hands and got up and walked over and picked it up and brought it back. I got tired of people who can't do things for themselves. That's not all but it's part of the trouble with some people in this country today, and around the world too. They not only want something for nothing, they want it delivered.

After all, it didn't really hurt me to get up and go after that paper. It seems to me that if hundreds of people scattered throughout the world are going to the trouble of gathering the news and others are going to the trouble of making the paper to print it on and others to the trouble of editing and printing it in readable form, it's not asking too much of me to get up once in a while and walk over and pick up a copy.

This country wasn't built on people who waited forever for a newspaper to drop into their lap.

Feeling pretty good about this show of initiative, I sat back down under my line of shade trees and later on in the day, after I've rested up, I intend to open it up and read it thoroughly.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Into Thin Air

Violet kept a valuable brooch in a jewel box, to which her maid had easy access. One day the maid suddenly left town. And immediately afterward, Violet discovered that the brooch was missing too.

But when she put in a claim under her theft insurance policy, the company refused to pay off.

"It's true she is covered for theft," conceded the company in a court test. "But she has no solid proof of any theft. The police never did locate the maid for questioning."

Nevertheless, the court upheld Violet's claim. The judge said the disappearance of the brooch, plus the additional circumstance of the maid's hasty departure, was enough indication that a theft had indeed taken place.

Such circumstantial evidence is often sufficient to establish an insurance claim for theft. In fact, under many modern policies, you are protected also against "mysterious disappearance"—even if there are no additional circumstances pointing to theft.

Take this case: A movie patron, after washing up in the men's rest room, absently minded left his gold ring on the wash basin. By the time he remembered and came back for it, the ring had vanished into thin air.

Here there were no clues at all to the fate of the ring. Nevertheless, the loss was held collectible under a "mysterious disappearance" clause. The court pointed out that, although the man knew where he had left the ring, there was mystery as to what happened to it afterward.

On the other hand, disappearance alone—with nothing puzzling about it—is usually not covered by theft insurance. Thus:

A housewife noticed that her diamond ring was missing from her finger, shortly after she had been struggling to unclog the garbage disposal. In this case, a court ruled that she could not collect for "mysterious disappearance." The judge said it was pretty obvious that she had simply lost the ring down the drain.

Of course, you can buy protection for even an ordinary, non-mysterious loss. But if you want that broader kind of coverage, you should make that clear to your insurance counselor at the time you take out a policy.

clear that Federal expenditures will increase with Federal activity. Expansion of Government activity may not in itself be improper. As natural changes occur, so must actions to meet it but we definitely should be sure that obligations to meet the demands of the future are what we want them to be and that it is the proper mission of the Federal Government.

Many of us are allergic to the appointment of Commissions to do something we should be doing ourselves but it may take some outside group to bring reality to get it further away from political machination.

Any realistic appraisal of our nation's financial condition should make it crystal

Burleson Points Out Dangers Of Federal Spending Programs

Omar Burleson, M. C., 17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D. C. — It seems our government, including all branches, believes that more money and more promises will cure the evils which we face.

The government has promised more, both to our own people and to the outside world, than it can deliver. A day of reckoning one way or the other is not far off.

This past week the Congress passed what is known as the "Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968" costing $5½ billion in this Fiscal Year. That, however, is not the whole story by any means.

The Bill involves about 30 different subsidized programs and no one can give a satisfactory answer as to what it will finally cost in the years ahead. Estimates are fairly clear that 8 of the major provisions will cost between $45 and $50 billion during the next 10 years.

The Bill includes a subsidy for rent payments, commonly known as rent supplement. It provides the difference between 20 percent of a home owner's income after deducting $200 for each minor child and monthly mortgage payments. Market interest rates can be subsidized down to a minimum of 1 percent regardless of the going rates at the time.

Another example is insurance provided by the Federal Government to rebuild property destroyed by riots. Urban renewal with Federal grants and loans is provided but with this type of insurance, any ghetto can be burned out and the renewal can be made under the insurance provision.

In the debate on this measure the sponsors agreed that this is the answer to chaos occurring in many of our large cities but a few crumbs are provided for every nick and cranny of the entire country under some type of Federal program.

All this follows the law recently passed providing for a 10 percent surcharge tax increase, together with a $6 billion reduction in the current budget, together with the cancellation of $10 billion in commitments already made.

How all of this is to be accomplished, while committing the Government to these huge outlays of expenditures in the future, is wholly inconsistent.

Every public official, whether a Mayor of a Town or the President of the United States, knows from experience how difficult it is to curb the momentum of expanding Government activity and we know that this portends the continuation of the levels of taxation higher than any of us want to bear. When Federal monies are available, pressures for every program mount.

As the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives said last October "We want to pause in this headlong rush to ever bigger Government." In a statement Chairman Mills made at that time he said that "the real issue is whether or not the Congress will ever be able to focus properly on controlling the growth of Federal claims on the Nation's productivity capabilities over the years ahead. It is one thing to attempt to cope with immediate challenges but it is another to look at the long range results of committed spending."

The interest on the Public Debt now exceeds $15 billion and the debt will continue to expand unless there is established firm control over the course of future expenditures. What is needed and what is essential is a change in spending programs to bring responsibility to our Fiscal affairs. We should focus sharply on what the Government is to do, as well as on how much it is to spend.

Any realistic appraisal of our nation's financial condition should make it crystal

AUSTIN. — With his veto power Gov. John Connally has the last word on the free-spending works of the special legislative session.

He has until July 23 to exercise this privilege. Speculation is high that he will strike from the 1969 budget several million dollars worth of items and a number of controversial riders.

Lawmakers wrote into the appropriations bill several things which Connally already had publicly disapproved of in previous veto messages.

There is speculation that he may knock out of the appropriations bill as much as $10 million worth of spending that has been programmed by the Legislature . . . much of it in conference committee.

Connally also is being urged to veto appropriation riders restricting the Air Control Board from using state funds to investigate pollution caused by cotton gins. He probably will do so, since he axed the same provisions last year.

Governor Connally chopped $3.2 million from the Legislature's spending plans after the 1967 regular session.

Another rider likely to feel Connally's hatchet would deny salary funds to any state employee who took a leave of absence to work in a political campaign. This proviso wasn't in either House or Senate bill originally. How it showed up in the conference committee report is a mystery of the special session.

Some legislators contend that the governor cannot veto riders. But Connally has done it effectively in the past, and nobody has yet to challenge his authority in court. It's a good bet he plans to do it again.

LCB OFFICIAL TO RETIRE — Aubrey R. Cartledge, chief of the Liquor Control Board's enforcement division and target of criticism in Attorney General Crawford Martin's report on that Board, plans to retire. He's a 33-year-veteran of the Board.

Cartledge is expected to ask the Board, later this month, to let him retire August 31, two weeks after he reaches 65 years of age.

In Martin's investigative report, he claimed that Cartledge failed to demonstrate any supervisory control over agents, and added, "It is our feeling that as long as he remains chief of the enforcement division this situation is not likely to show improvement."

APPOINTMENTS A NOUNCED — Governor Connally named Shearn Smith district judge in Houston.

Col. Jack W. Fickessen, district engineer of the Fort Worth District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, will join the Texas Water Development Board in an administrative capacity on August 1.

House Speaker Ben Barnes named five legislators to an interim committee to study the necessity of a tort claims act for citizens who wish to seek redress for injuries by negligent state and local government employees. They are Reps. Bill Finck of San Antonio, Bill Braecklin of Dallas, Temple Dickson of Sweetwater, Bill Swanson of Houston and C. L. Ray of Marshall.

MORRIS SWORN IN — Fort Worth Lawyer Garrett Morris has been sworn in as a new member of the Texas Highway Commission. He replaces Hal Woodward of Coleman who has been appointed federal judge for the Northern District of Texas.

Morris is the head of a Ft. Worth insurance company and has been practicing law there for 20 years.

DWI TEST LAW STILL NEEDED — Up to the point where the bill by Rep. Don Cavness of Austin to require blood and or breath tests for intoxication in drivers was killed by the State Senate, it was the subject of an added debate: Cavness said Texas would lose Federal highway aid if the bill failed. Some lawmakers insisted that this was not so.

HIGHLIGHTS CONT. Weldon Hart of the Texas

Good Roads Association says the Federal government has the "legal right to withhold 10 percent of Texas' Federal highway funds" until such a bill is passed.

Hart predicts that the Cavness bill will make better progress in the 1969 session.

LAND OFFICE SETS LEASE SALE — State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said the School Land Board's next oil, gas and sulphur lease will be held at 10 a.m., December 3 in the General Land Office, but bids must be received by October 10, 1968.

GOP URGES JOB PROGRAM — Texas Republican Party has called for a tax credit plan to encourage more industry-sponsored job training programs for unemployed, unskilled workers.

Nine-point program calls for enactment of new Texas Employment Commission aid, improved vocational and technical education and better industrial safety services.

GOP would also limit to two the number of times a person can refuse suitable job offers provided work pays as much or more than unemployment or welfare benefits. Tax credits, GOP said, should be "preferable federal."

LBJ PARK CONTRACT LET Construction contract of $116,900 was awarded to Blanchard and Associates Inc. of Fredericksburg to build new facilities at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Historic Park, near Johnson City.

Work at the park, across the Pedernales from LBJ Ranch, will include a visitor center and rest room, water electric and sewage systems. Part of the materials were obtained from 113-year-old Pfeil Building donated to the park by the Fredericksburg National Bank.

HUNTING SEASONS SET — Texas nimrods can start making those fall hunting plans. Parks and Wildlife Commission has set the new hunting regulations.

Deer season will open on November 9 in most areas of the state. General limit is three, no more than two bucks (there are exceptions in some areas). An extended, experimental deer season was established for November 9 January 7 in Frio County.

Mourning Dove season starts October 1 and extends until October 30 in the north zone. Dates for the southern zone are September 21-November 19.

A small section of Lower Rio Grande Valley will become a non-season sanctuary for white wing and mourning doves. Regular white wing season is September 1-2 and 7-8.

SHORT SNORTS — Buescher State Park near Smithville is being developed as a science park.

Oak Cliff Country Club of Dallas filed a protest over the Liquor Control Board ruling requiring members of private clubs in dry areas to buy their own whiskey.

Did you know the same simple principle that perks your coffee cools your home? It's true. Just a simple flame puts both into operation.

Now look closely at that coffee pot. Simple parts, right? Well, it's like that with gas air conditioning, too. Simple, rugged construction. No big motors or compressors to worry about. Fewer moving parts.

Simplicity! That's why you'll have fewer repair bills and more reliable service with low cost gas. After all, when was the last time your coffee pot broke down?

7-Numeral Calling coming to Hamlin in October

"SP 4" telephone number prefix to become "576"; some other number changes are due

ALL Hamlin telephone numbers will be changed from two letters and five numerals to seven numerals, effective with delivery of a new telephone directory in October.

The prefix "SP 4," will be changed to "576." In some cases, the last four digits of each telephone number will remain the same.

For example, SP 4-2199 will become 576-2199.

Some Other Changes

However, numbers between SP 4-1000 and SP 4-1999 will be changed to the corresponding number in the 576-3000 series.

For example, SP 4-1691 will become 576-3691.

These changes are necessary, for technical reasons, to pave the way for future telephone improvements for Hamlin.

Hamlin thus will join many other Southwestern Bell cities in conforming with the new nationwide numbering plan of all-numeral telephone numbers.

This type of numbering is common in many other parts of the nation.

Experience in other cities where all numeral telephone numbers have been introduced has indicated that such numbers are easy to use, and that fewer mistakes are made in dialing them.

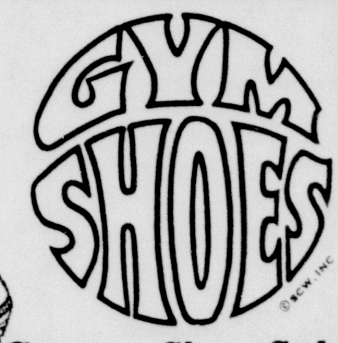

Numbers in New Directory

The new numbers will be contained in the next telephone directory.

Customers who use printed material bearing their telephone numbers will want to be sure to remember to use their new numbers in ordering material to be used after the change.

WE believe that you will find this new up-to-date numbering system simple and more trouble-free to use. And Hamlin, as in the past, will continue to be in the forefront of telephone progress.

$10 Million Cotton Research, Promotion Program Set for 1969

Lubbock, — Plans for a 1969 cotton research and promotion program approximating $10 million were outlined and considered here today by trustees of the Cotton Producers Institute.

Russell Giffen, Fresno, Calif., CPI president, pointed out that while plans call for continuation of all major projects in the $8 million CPI program for 1968, a significant expansion is proposed in research on durable press to enhance cotton's competitive position in a number of key markets and in promotion keyed to this product development.

High priority would be assigned to durable press (1) sheets and pillowcases, (2) shirts, (3) work trousers, casual slacks, and suits, and (4) dress fabrics. Teams composed of members of the technical, market research, and promotion staffs of the National Cotton Council have been designated in each of these areas and would work as a unit.

The Institute utilizes the staff and facilities of the National Cotton Council in carrying out its program which is financed by $1 per bale payments by growers under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Ernest Stewart, New York, director of promotion, National Cotton Council, said that in other durable press product groups where research proposals are being made for 1969, teams will be set up as progress indicates. End uses in this category are draperies, upholstery fabrics, and knit goods. A floor coverings product development team also has been established.

The promotion outline recommends in national magazine advertising and in newspaper advertising sponsored 50-50 with local retailers. These two items are expected to account for the major share of the promotion budget. Television commercials, sponsored jointly with retailers, will be run in a number of test cities.

Promotion sponsored cooperatively with major chains will be continued. Expansion is planned in the area of fabric development, fabric libraries, shows at marketpress weeks, and shopping center activity.

Continued also would be campaigns sponsored jointly with the manufacturers of cotton cushioning, awnings, and piece goods. Similar programs are planned also in behalf of tenting and mattress pads.

George S. Buck, Memphis, the Council's research director, presented recommendations in ten problem areas: (1) insects, (2) diseases, (3) weeds, (4) yield-quality, (5) mechanization, (6) processing-handling-markets, (7) mill processing-finishing, (8) consumer quality improvement, (9) product development, and (10) cottonseed.

AIR FORCE RESERVE — David A. Sutton, son of H. H. Sutton of Hamlin, is participating in a U. S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps field training encampment at the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colo. Cadet Sutton, a graduate of Ranger High School, is a member of the AFROTC unit at East Texas State University.

"Coordination of CPI research with all other cotton research — particularly that supported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state experiment stations — is vital to an effective over-all program," Dr. Buck emphasized in explaining procedures through which CPI works with USDA's cotton research review committee.

One purpose of CPI research he said, is to increase the total effort of USDA, state experiment stations, and private industry, but of equal importance is the "extent to which CPI research can strengthen, extend, and accelerate other parts of the total cotton research program."

Enters Guilty Plea

Bobby Joe Brown, 20, of Hamlin entered a plea of guilty Friday before Judge Owen Thomas in 10th District Court in Arson to conspiracy to commit felony theft.

He received a three year probation sentence. The case was investigated by Chief Bryan Wasson and Texas Ranger Sid Merchant of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Andress and son, Ray, went to South Dakota with their daughter, Frankie, and family to visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Baker Sr. They saw herds of buffalo on the trip and commented that it was beautiful at Mt. Rushmore where the climate was very pleasant.

Greg Perrin is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Perrin in Cameron this week.
